

United Steelworkers Emergency Response Team

members are dispatched as soon as possible following a workplace fatality or catastrophic incident.

The ERT offers caring and compassionate support to USW members, families and co-workers dealing with a workplace tragedy:

- Advocacy for members and their families
- A liaison between families, the local union and the employer
- Referrals to service providers
- Support for the local union
- Follow-up visits to offer further assistance to family members and workers

The USW Response Team is waiting for your call...

The union's Emergency Response Team (ERT) relies on notification from our local unions as quickly as possible following a fatality or catastrophic incident.

In the event of a workplace fatality or life-altering injury to any Steelworker, the local should notify its representative and the ERT as soon as possible.

Have the victim's name and the USW local number available, as well as the employer's name.
